2. Repertoire must be listed accurately on the Application Form. Include title, number, key, opus, movements and duration of each piece.
3. Submitted repertoire is subject to approval by the Competition Artistic Committee.

4. For the Competition, applicants accepted are required to perform the repertoire submitted on the Application Form as well as the submitted DVD.

No changes will be permitted.

5. All repertoire must be performed from memory.
6. If requested by the Jury, contestants must have available a copy of the edition used in the preparation of each work of the repertoire performed. Contestants must also have available an additional copy of the concerto for the accompanist. No photocopies will be accepted.

REQUIRED COMMISSIONED REPERTOIRE

As an additional requirement, contestants accepted to the Competition will be sent a new work for solo piano, commissioned by The Stecher and Horowitz Foundation for the 2014 New York International Piano Competition. The score will be sent approximately twelve weeks in advance. It will not exceed eight minutes in length and must be performed from memory. Contestants have the option of including it in the Preliminary or Semi-Final Round.

REQUIRED ENSEMBLE ROUND REPERTOIRE

As an additional requirement, contestants accepted to the Competition will be sent designated one-piano, four hands or two piano repertoire (to be determined prior to mailing) approximately twelve weeks in advance, (parts to be pre-selected) that will not exceed twelve minutes in length. This repertoire does not have to be memorized. Teams will be chosen by a drawing, and all teams will perform the same repertoire for the ensemble round. (Refer to Competition Procedures No. 6)

DVD's FOR ADMISSION

 - c. Romantic composition (or group of shorter pieces)
 - d. Etude by Chopin
2. The DVD must be of high quality and professionally recorded at one location; record to NTSC or PAL format. No editing is allowed. The video recording must be made with one fixed camera, mounted on a tripod, focusing on the right profile and hands of the pianist.
3. Name, address and contents must be affixed to DVD's.

COMPETITION ROUNDS

Each contestant will be scheduled to perform in all four Rounds of the Competition. There will be no elimination of any contestant by the Jury throughout the Competition.

Preliminary Round

The Jury will hear a twenty (25) minute recital of the submitted solo repertoire, including time between movements and compositions. The compositions and order of performance will be determined by the contestant. Unless the designated time is exceeded, the contestant will not be interrupted.

Semi-Final Round

The Jury will hear a twenty-five (25) minute recital of the submitted solo repertoire, including time between movements and compositions, and not repeating repertoire from the preliminary round. The compositions and order of performance will be determined by the contestant. Unless the designated time is exceeded, the contestant will not be interrupted.

Make sure you have included the required commissioned composition within the time period of either the Preliminary or Semi-Final Rounds.

Final Round

The first movement of the submitted concerto will be heard by the Jury. An accompanist at the second piano will be furnished by the Competition.

Ensemble Round

The designated repertoire will be heard by the Jury.

COMPETITION PROCEDURES

1. A Screening Jury will evaluate the entire application and the submitted DVD.
2. The order of performance of contestants will be determined by a drawing and maintained throughout the Competition, including the Ensemble Round.
3. The Competition will be judged by a distinguished international panel of Jurors.
4. In the event there are changes relevant to unusual circumstances, all contestants must be ready to perform at a newly assigned time during the Competition.
5. Each contestant will be assigned a schedule and provided with an accompanist for rehearsing the first movement of the concerto.
6. Each team will be assigned a schedule and provided with a coach for rehearsing the designated ensemble repertoire.
7. Each contestant is required to attend all educational seminars, master classes and other special events associated with the Competition.

8. All phases of the Competition will be open to the public.
9. Contestants in the Competition must waive all claims and fees for audio and video presentations, recordings and photographs, performances on radio or television, either live or on tape attributed to any activities of the Competition. The Stecher and Horowitz Foundation reserves the right to record all rounds of the Competition for its own purposes, and to use such tapes (audio or video) at any time without any payment of fees or royalties to the performers. The Stecher and Horowitz Foundation, its assignees or licensees may not be held liable for any payments to performers, derived from materials attributed to Competition performances. Contestants are obligated to sign a release form yielding all rights to such materials to the Foundation, its assignees or licensees.

I declare that the information given in the Application Form is accurate and truthful. If accepted as a competitor in the 2014 New York International Piano Competition, held in New York City, I shall abide by all rules and regulations of the Competition as stated in the official Application Rules. If I become a Prize winner of the Competition, I further agree to the following:

1. During the three-year period following the Competition, I will make every effort to accept all appearances offered by The Stecher and Horowitz Foundation as part of the prize. Prize winners who are requested to appear in recitals (no more than four appearances per year unless mutually agreed upon following the Competition) are obligated to perform for a period of no longer than three years after the Competition. The Stecher and Horowitz Foundation will compensate the winner with round trip transportation and accommodations if travel to and from destination of concert exceeds 100 miles each way.

2. I shall adhere to the advice and suggestions of the Foundation's Executive Directors regarding the repertoire submitted to be performed at the recitals secured by The Stecher and Horowitz Foundation.

3. Should the Stecher and Horowitz Foundation produce an digital recording of me during or in connection with The New York International Piano Competition:

I hereby agree to your digital recording of me and/or recording my voice and/or my musical performances (collectively the "Material") in connection with audio and visual programs (the "Programs") produced by The Stecher and Horowitz Foundation, that shall be copyrighted by The Stecher and Horowitz Foundation.

I hereby agree to appear in the Programs and consent to your using the Material including my name, voice and likeness in connection with the Programs with the understanding that you and your successors, licensees and assignees shall have the exclusive right to reproduce, distribute and exhibit the Programs in all media for commercial and educational broadcast and/or promotional display worldwide.

Additionally, you shall also have the right to obtain copyright for material provided by or uttered by me as part of any electronic recording in connection with my appearance on the Programs as well as to obtain copyright for any pre-existing original material that I provide to you to be used in part or in its entirety in the Programs, including, but not limited to: video, audio and photographs of me.

I also hereby forever release and discharge you, The Stecher and Horowitz Foundation and each of your respective successors, licensees and assignees, from any and all causes of action, claims, demands, costs and liabilities of every kind and character, known and unknown, now existing or which may hereafter arise, in connection with the use of the Material and/or other use of my voice, my likeness and/or my name as herein provided.

I will make no claims whatsoever for any funds, which may accrue to The Stecher and Horowitz Foundation or its assignees or licensees, resulting from the use or sale of such recorded, filmed or videotaped material.

In the event I fail to comply with any of the provisions listed above, it is hereby agreed and understood that the Foundation may seek a court injunction preventing me from further violations of this agreement, and in such event I agree to pay the Foundation all of the Foundation's court costs and attorney's fees incurred in obtaining such injunction.

4. The provisions of No. 3 shall apply to concerts secured by The Stecher and Horowitz Foundation following the Competition.
